McKillop Award for Community Service – Call for Nominations

The call for nominations for the 2011 McKillop Award for Community Service, presented by Calgary Family Services and Enbridge Inc., is now open. This $2,500 annual award recognizes the vital role not-for-profit human services employees play in building creative, sustainable and ethical responses to the varied and often challenging needs of Calgarians. This award acknowledges the extraordinary contribution of an individual in the human services sector who impacts our community and helps define the city's character.

Nominations will be accepted until noon on May 6. Nomination forms can be downloaded from the Calgary Family Services website at www.calgaryfamily.org/mckillop or requested by calling (403) 269-9888.

Finalists will be announced in early September and the award will be presented on September 22, 2011.

Calgary Family Services is a not-for-profit, non-governmental organization with over 100 years of service to the community. For more information please visit www.calgaryfamily.org

Enbridge values the important role not-for-profit organizations play in making our community a better place to work and live. Individuals working in human services demonstrate a personal commitment to improving the social fabric of our city and we're proud to support the McKillop Award for Community Service in recognizing this contribution.
